Conference Overview

An Invitation from presidency of the Organizing Committee

MANUEL REGUEIRO

President of the Conference

As the former president of ICOG and ex-president of EFG, I am pleased to announce the 5th International Professional Geology Conference (IPGC) in Zaragoza, Spain, from November 5 to 7, 2025. This event commemorates 25 years since the first IPGC and highlights the evolution of professional geology, which now faces significant challenges such as geological hazards and environmental sustainability.

Despite its relevance, the profession has seen a decline in the number of professionals. The 5th IPGC will be a platform to address these issues and promote the creation of a World Professional Geology Organization dedicated to applying our knowledge for the benefit of society. Under the motto "Building on the Past, Advancing towards the Future: Geology in the Era of Technology," we aim to further our mission of serving the community.

Madrid, 15 March 2024

NIEVES SÁNCHEZ

President of Spanish Official Association of Geologists (ICOG)

It's a great pleasure to receive you in our beautiful country. The Spanish Professional Association ICOG is preparing an interesting program, in which the women professionals will be an active part of this future we want to draw. Our service to the society must be present to construct a better world, and the geoethics is like a lighthouse to understand the earth and keep it with the best knowledge and professional vision.

We want to share ideas, innovation and culture. We are waiting for you!

Madrid, 15 March 2024

DAVID GOVONI

President of European Federation of Geologists (EFG)

Join us at the 5th International Professional Geology Congress to expand your global network of contacts, fostering growth throughout your professional career. This event provides a unique platform for professional development, skill enhancement, and sharing insights on the latest geological advancements. By registering, you gain the opportunity to actively contribute and become a player in driving positive change within our community.

Bruxelles, 15 March 2024

LUIS LOPES

President of Portuguese Association of Geologists (APG)

Also in Earth sciences, technological innovation is a reality that university curricula cannot always keep up with, so the possibility of attending specialized training courses where digital tools play a crucial role in helping geologists in their work is yet another argument for being present and join the largest international congress exclusively focused on the geologist profession.

Come, consolidate your contacts and share experiences in a relaxed and highly motivating environment.
